

Lorraine's Health Journey & Testimony

Hosea 4:6 says, "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge".

I always thought this scripture only referred to lack of spiritual knowledge, but I believe it also relates to a lack of knowledge regarding our health. God wants us to seek Him and expect Him to show us the pathway to our healing. Each person's pathway to healing is unique. I'm convinced we should no longer put God in a box and default to expecting Him to heal us exclusively through conventional Western medicine. When I first began writing this years ago after years of standing on God's word, and not yet seeing my manifestation of a supernatural healing, and also not getting answers from my doctors, I was led to believe there was something else. I was beginning to see that God wanted to show me something in between those two, something between conventional medicine and supernatural healing. That there was a purpose in all this.

I totally believe in Divine healing and have seen God instantly heal people of Cancer, Lupus, etc. I've also seen God supernatural heal others over time (without medical or alternative intervention) realizing the manifestation of healing over several months to a year. I haven't seen it very often, but I know in the coming days, we are going to see more and more instantaneous healings, as well as healings over a certain time-period (slower supernatural healings).

It's very common to believe God in faith for healing while going to the doctor and following his instructions. It's also very common to believe God in faith for healing while walking this path that I've taken, a journey I had no idea would not only lead to my own healing but heal countless others.

I had learned too much to go back to solely relying on conventional doctors while standing in faith for my healing.

When I was 27 years old in 1985, I found out I had breast cancer (intraductal carcinoma of the left breast). I was given 2 options. A radical mastectomy of the left breast, or partial mastectomy (lumpectomy) with radiation. I was only 27 and just not ready to lose a breast, so I chose the partial surgery. However, I did not do the radiation which they said would lower the risk of breast cancer recurrence. I was concerned about the long-term side effects of radiation. I did my homework and spent hours and hours reading medical journals and studying alternative options. I wanted to make an informed decision. I chose to go with an experimental type of therapy called Antineoplastons developed by Dr. Burzynski in Houston (which is where I lived). I did not make this decision lightly. I went through Phase II of the clinical trials which included biweekly injections.

Unfortunately, after several months of treatment, one day I panicked because the nipple started bleeding. At that point, I had a radical mastectomy leaving me with just my right breast. Thank God no lymph nodes were affected. Still losing a breast at age 28 was quite devastating, and the doctors said now the other breast had budding cancer cells. When I turned 30, I decided to undergo breast reconstruction with the hope to restore what I lost and to reduce the risk of the other breast developing full-blown cancer. The surgeon suggested silicone implants and, of course, no one dreamed that there would be problems with them later. So, I went forward with it. The day I came out of surgery, I had excruciating low and mid-back pain and the joints all over my body were aching. I complained to the doctor, but he insisted that it had nothing to do with the implants or the type of surgery he just performed. The following day, I broke out in a rash all over my body and itched from head to toe. It went away after a couple of days, but the unbearable muscle aches did not. Soon after that I was diagnosed with rheumatoid arthritis. I suspected the silicone-filled implants had something to do with it but couldn't prove it and I was only 30 years old.

I was serving the Lord as a missionary overseas (Youth With A Mission) when the reports came out about problems with the silicone implants. Many women began suing the manufacturer since they were suffering greatly... mostly from Lupus and Fibromyalgia (a muscular autoimmune disorder). The FDA banned the silicone-gel implants in 1992 amid fears they might cause cancer, lupus and other diseases. The women were winning the cases in the class-action lawsuit in the early 90's. Many that had ruptured implants were having them replaced with saline-filled implants. I ignored the news about the class action suit trusting the Lord to protect me from leakages and decided not to participate in the class-action suit. Besides I was getting mammograms every year and being reassured by the doctors there was no leakage. Later I found out that mammograms can only detect a ruptured implant, not a leakage. Years can go by with silicone migrating to other parts of the body without knowing from a slow leak.

After 14 years in 2006, the FDA approved silicone gel implants again! According to the Center for Research, to this day there have been no studies done comparing health issues women have using silicone-filled breast implants for more than 10 years, to health issues women have who've never had implants. (center4research.org) And to this day, no "medical" test can verify whether silicone is present in the tissues of the body (silicone migration), and therefore surgeons or the manufacturers to this day do not take responsibility for the problems women were having with silicone in their lymph nodes or organs.

When I was 37 years old, after my annual cancer screening which includes full-body MRI, CBC, pap smear, etc., I was told I had uterine cancer and needed to have a hysterectomy. I was shocked! Turns out the pap smear performed a year and a half earlier had indicated "pre-cancerous" stage 1 (cervical dysplasia) but the doctor failed to give me that report saying all was clear from all the tests. Now it was cervical cancer that had spread to the uterus. It was devastating having to face the fact that I could no longer hope to have children. Also, I had insurance the year before but not now. I had starting my own business (interestingly a doctor's referral business), so financially I could not afford my own insurance just yet.

I found an attorney and filed a malpractice lawsuit. Because of no insurance and things were tied up in court for a long time. I took the opportunity to stand on 30 scriptures, declaring them out loud several times a day. I would not let one doubt thought come into my mind all that time believing God for a supernatural healing. I spent a whole year reading medical books and anything I could get my hands on about nutrition, herbs, healing modalities, etc. I knew I was risking my life waiting to have the surgery since the cancer could spread even further, but feeling very strongly about it, I held onto God's word about healing and kept researching alternative healing methods.

Conventional doctors claim that breast cancer and cervical / uterine cancer are two different types of cancer, unrelated. I got to thinking, "what's to keep cancer from happening again in a different area of my body?" Meanwhile I'm losing body parts. I asked God what He wanted me to do to prevent future cancer. I went on several long fasts praying. This was

I began reading alternative books on the causes and healing of cancer and began listening more intently to people about their health issues. My company, I worked with many doctors and did health and spinal screenings, I heard a lot about various health problems people had. Many would share with me about the solutions they found for their health issues as well. One lady told me that her 5-year-old son had become more and more mentally deranged until she was advised by doctors to have him committed. She somehow found out about a hair analysis test, and it indicated massive amounts of toxic metals in his system. Weekly chelation treatments were done and within a few months he became mentally sound, and he began first grade in public school with no problems. This got my curiosity and made me wonder why doctors are not checking for things like that.

I got a hold of one book that had compiled information from hundreds of autopsies done on cancer patients and found a common thread. It revealed that every cancer patient had at least 3 of these 4 things. #1. An excessive accumulation of waste and toxins lining the inside wall of their small and large intestines. #2. One or more types of parasites that had taken up residence in the body. #3. Heavy "metal toxicity" adversely affecting the autonomic nervous system. #4. Dental Toxicity. Particularly a condition called neuralgia-inducing cavitation osteonecrosis (NICO), which is a pocket of infection located in the jawbone below where a tooth used to be, usually where an extraction took place years prior, or a location with previous trauma, supplying the body with bacteria that is distributed to other organs via the bloodstream. Also, can be in the jawbone beneath a root-canaled tooth. More about this later.

Well, after learning this, I started reading up on parasites and how to get rid of them. I wondered why my medical physician never bothered to check for parasites. Maybe it's the mentality that believes only third world countries have this problem - not here in America! I began taking specific herbs known to eradicate them. I began passing pencil-sized worms every week. After researching and looking at various pictures in a parasite book, I resolved that they were probably roundworms although I never got tested to find out for sure. The book said 54% of people living in southeastern parts of the U.S. carry this parasite, typically contracted from pets. The book also stated that roundworms could cause eczema and depression. Ascaris in the lungs could cause Asthma. The pancreatic fluke of cattle, Eurytrema, could cause diabetes. Migraines can be caused by the threadworm, Strongyloides stercoralis. Rosacea (pimples on their face that resemble acne) can be the caused by a parasite called Leishmania. Much human heart disease can be traced to a dog heartworm, Dirofilaria. And the list goes on.

I learned that there can be dozens of different parasites present within us. Healthy immune systems can tolerate parasites. Although the medical field claims that the hydrochloric acid present in the stomach will kill them if ingested, the fact is parasites do live within most of us. Eighty percent of the population has one or more parasites. Ninety-five percent of patients with chronic illness will have them. When present, parasites can actually accelerate the growth of cancerous tumors. Getting rid of all these parasites would be absolutely impossible using clinical medicines that can kill only one or two types of parasites each. We have been taught to believe that every parasite is so unique that a different drug is required to kill each one. But there are specific herbs that can be taken that will kill most varieties within 2 months.

I also found a good Naturopath doctor (and nutritionist) named Sandra Driscoll and got to work clearing out my colon doing regular enemas and colonics. She also put me on some stuff to clear out the candida and taught me a lot about “scriptural eating” and I was able to make some adjustments in my diet. By the way, “Tissue Cleansing through Bowel Management” by Bernard Jensen is an excellent book if you want the gory details on colon health. I don’t agree with some of the products he suggests taking but it is excellent information for anyone who has colitis, digestive problems or constipation. Anyway, for months I would pass feet after feet of hard toxic material and strings and strings of mucous.

I wondered how in the world all that could have possibly fit in my colon!

Meanwhile, almost a year after finding out about the cervical/uterine cancer, I contacted a physician/surgeon for an exam and tests to see how I was doing. It still showed cancer of the cervix and in the uterus. However, it was not worse and had NOT spread to other areas of my body! I told him my story about my previous doctor’s error and not having health insurance. Miracle of miracles he offered to do the surgery free of charge. He also talked to the hospital to do the same! So, I ended up having the hysterectomy, never blaming God and never giving up in my quest in finding out what can be done to avoid cancer in my future.

Although the year-long wait for His supernatural healing didn’t pan out how I had hoped, I don’t regret believing Him all that time. It made me more determined to discover what it is that the conventional approach was missing.

An LVN’s Struggle with Cancer

After reading another book called “God’s Way to Ultimate Healing” by Rev. George Malkmus, I began calling individuals recognized in the book that had been healed of cancer by clearing out their colon and eating right. I called one of them, a nurse in Killeen, Texas who had struggled with cancer off and on for years and finally gave up on the chemotherapy and radiation route. She also realized, like me, that just eating right and taking nutritional products didn’t quite do the trick for her either; she shared how she visited a Christian-based medical clinic in North Carolina called SonRidge Health Center. They scanned her system looking for underlying causes of why her immune system was not warding off cancer. After three days of testing, it was discovered that she had parasites, as well as osteonecrosis, an infection under one of her teeth. She scheduled her cavitation surgery to clear out the infection in her jaw, and took the remedy prescribed for that particular type of parasite. Her cancer disappeared within a couple of months without any conventional treatment. This really got my attention.

(By the way, homeopathic medicine (in case you have never heard of this type of product) is made from a “tincture” from a natural base substance (plant) mixed with a minute amount of alcohol or distilled water. It is non-toxic with no known side effects. Different types of plant substances are used for different ailments. Typically, they are taken as drops under the tongue. In England, there exist exclusively homeopathic hospitals. In France, one third of the family physicians integrate homeopathic care into their practices. And over half of the physicians in Australia, India, Mexico, and South America prescribe homeopathic medicines.)

The LVN explained that this clinic in North Carolina did not claim to cure cancer. All they do is find underlying problems and conditions that burden the immune system and clear those areas up so that it can get busy fighting cancer cells present in the body or any other known disease in the body. (They use a device called the Vega and) the testing is divided into three half-day sessions. It’s a screening device used to measure the various electromagnetic frequencies emitted by the body in order to detect pathogens that may be causing present illness or contributing to future disease. (The doctor takes a small, hand-held probe connected to a meter and gently presses certain points on the hands and feet while noting the figures displayed on the meter.) From this they can detect which parts of the body are functioning correctly and which ones are causing problems, and why.

Thus, it becomes possible to find the root cause of any health disorder. This modality (is known as electrodermal screening and) was originally developed by a German doctor named Dr. Reinhard Voll in the 1940’s which took weeks to test, (but later innovated into 3 days). He found that he could detect almost every known disease, chemical toxin, allergy, parasite, bacteria, virus, pesticide, and malfunctioning organ or glandular system.

Energy Medicine

I became very interested in going to this clinic but also very hesitant and wondered why I had not heard of this type of diagnostic technology before and why insurance did not cover it. So, again, I researched and found out that these devices are widely used in Europe. In Japan, an estimated 40,000 practitioners use a device very similar.

Electrodermal devices fall under the category of “Energy Medicine” which refers to therapies that use an energy field – electrical, magnetic, or infrared energy fields. Many of the most sophisticated diagnostic systems used today in conventional medicine, such as the EKG (electrocardiogram) and MRI (magnetic resonance imaging), employ the principles of energy medicine. Along the same line, the electrodermal screening device measures electromagnetic frequencies emitted by the body. In the U.S., it has only been approved on an experimental basis solely for screening purposes. This is despite the fact that it is conservatively estimated that there are between 85,000 to 100,000 practitioners in this field worldwide. Unfortunately, the main thrust of our conventional chemical-based medicine in the United States is crisis intervention rather than prevention. Regarding cancer, for instance, treatments are aimed only at killing cancer cells or removing existing tumors, that is, treating the symptoms of a malfunctioning body, not the pathogens present that are burdening the immune system.

The (electrodermal) device, on the other hand, scans the body to find out which organs are malfunctioning, and then checks the frequency level at that site to identify what is causing that particular organ to degenerate. Once identified, the practitioner can prescribe the appropriate course of action for the client. When the source of the toxicity or dysfunction is cleared up, the body's natural ability to ward off degenerative disease can be restored.

I asked my Naturopath doctor about this type of detection equipment and she mentioned there was a practitioner (name undisclosed), a scientist, and researcher (just outside of Dallas), innovated the technology even further in recent years. By uploading the resonant frequencies of all the various organisms, bacteria, metals, pesticides, etc., he was able to put together a software package that allows the practitioner to log the frequency readings and perform multiple screenings much quicker. This condensed the screening session to three hours rather than 3 days!! (The technology is called Electro-Dermal Screening.) This scientist has traveled the world conducting seminars training doctors in various countries how to implement the device in their practice.

I called this clinic and booked an appointment immediately. I had hopes that once and for all, I would find out why my immune system wasn't warding off cancer. What if this is what I had been praying for?

Around that same time, the lawsuit was entering the deposition stage after 2 long years. The doctor admitted at the deposition that he failed to give me the results at the proper time, and I was offered a settlement, so I took it.

Finally...My Health Disorders Brought To Light!! May 1998

The first thing this practitioner found was a problem with my liver. Amoebic Liver Abscess, siring microscopic parasites (amoebas) as the source. Apparently, every organism, virus, bacteria, etc. has a resonant frequency and the device measures the specific range while checking one organ at time. In this case, the computer device found that the frequency range matched that of two different parasites, amoebae, which are single-celled microscopic parasites, causing my liver to abscess. Entamoeba Histolytica, and Giardia Lamblia also in the anal canal. The computer then began to scan information within the database to determine the appropriate remedy and dosage needed to kill these particular amoebas.

Evidence shows that a person can contract giardia, a microscopic parasite, by drinking tap water. 75% of the American population has it! Again, parasites are quite common, and a healthy body can normally handle them without a problem. But if the immune system is dealing with several other areas of toxicity, the body can become susceptible to all types of degenerative diseases. I was actually glad that I had already begun to deal with the parasite issue and much of them (the large ones) apparently had already been cleared out by the numerous herbs that I had taken prior to my visit. (For all the gory details about parasites and what they look like, here is a good website.... <https://thelifetree.com/pages/parasite-gallery3>)

He continued to use the small, hand-held probe connected to a meter gently pressing certain points on my hands and feet while noting figures displayed on the computer monitor to determine what other problems needed addressing.

He found that there was a benign tumor on my pituitary gland indicating FSH (Follicle Stimulating Hormone). FSH is a hormone secreted by the pituitary gland that promotes the formation of ova. I had been taking glandular capsules over the years to support my endocrine system, but doctors could never tell me exactly what was causing my hormonal imbalance.

The next thing the (Electro-Dermal) device revealed was “Silicone Breast Implant Leakage” 100x. The phrase “silicone toxicity” flashed up on the computer screen and indicated that the left implant was leaking. I mentioned that I did indeed have silicone implants put in nine years prior because of previous breast cancer mastectomies. He stressed the importance of scheduling an appointment with a plastic surgeon as soon as possible to have them removed and replaced with saline implants. I was somewhat resistant, not looking forward to another surgery, but wanted to keep an open mind and listen to the rest of the evaluation.

Next, “Autoimmune” showed up on the screen. While assessing my condition giving the device different commands, he proceeded to find out through a process of elimination, what was causing the disorder: Giardia, Silicone breast implant leakage, and cadmium. Autoimmune is a disorder where the immune system mistakes some part of the body as a pathogen and begins attacking it. In other words, my body was actually attacking a part of my body. It was attacking my breast area where the implants were.

Cadmium toxicity is a heavy metal that can be ingested from eating food that has been grown in cadmium contaminated soil – soil that’s had sewage sludge, fertilizers, and irrigation water contaminating it. Apparently, you can also get it from consuming refined and processed foods, contaminated drinking water, breathing cigarette smoke or artist’s paints. Who knows where I got it? (Anyway, he jotted down the type of vitamins to double up on, in order to help clear the cadmium out of my system.)

He then began to summarize the health issues that he felt needed my attention.

He explained that I had four areas of toxicity. The body can normally handle one area without noticeable difficulty. But it takes three or four to throw the body into a diseased state. In my case, the silicone implant toxicity, the amoebas, the liver abscess, and the cadmium all needed to be dealt with. He strongly suggested I have the silicone implants replaced with saline-filled, take the homeopathic solution to kill the parasites, and to take certain vitamins to clear out the cadmium. I was to schedule a follow-up visit with him in two months to note my progress.

I got back to Houston and got busy and had the surgery and sure enough, the left implant had about ¼ less the amount of silicone than the other side. The surgeon sent me home with the implants so I could see them and weigh them myself. I also went home with a VHS tape of my surgery.

As I watched the video of my surgery, I witnessed with my own eyes him cutting out several chunks of hardened silicone plastic from the inner lining of my breast tissue. Once silicone is released into the tissue, it migrates to distant sites of the body through the lymphatic channels and bloodstream. There is a drinkable product that slowly removes pesticides, chemicals, and silicone from the body (without going through expensive chelation) and without burdening the eliminatory organs on the way out.

Follow-Up Visit – July 1998

I scheduled my follow-up visit with this practitioner in Dallas and also took my sister Evelyn with me for her first appointment. As he began to assess me, he could no longer detect an autoimmune disorder!!

The silicone leakage did not show up either. He checked and found no parasites in the liver and the abscesses were cleared up! He checked the pituitary gland and it showed normal with no sign of a tumor and no giardia. The cadmium toxicity remained, but it had diminished down to less than half the original level. I was to continue with the same dosage of the cadmium remedy given the prior visit.

The interesting thing was that he did an overall toxicity level test of my system. Two months ago, it was at the level of a 90-year-old. This time it was the level of a 20-year old!

I had been standing on Psalm 103:2-5 for years which said;

*Praise the LORD, my soul, and forget not all his benefits—
who forgives all your sins and heals all your diseases, who redeems your life from the pit and crowns you with love and compassion, who satisfies your desires with good things
so that your youth is renewed like the eagle's!*

I was starting to see the manifestation of my healing, answers to health issues. My faith now had substance.

Follow-up Visit – September 1999, a year later

I decided to do a follow-up visit a year later at the clinic because I started having dramatic emotional swings. During the testing, it was revealed that I had a very low progesterone level and (again) low Follicle Stimulate Hormone. Also, the Pituitary Gland was stressed, again. The root cause of all of this showed Mercury Toxicity. He suggested my next project would be to replace my metal tooth fillings with composite fillings, which uses white non-toxic material. He also put me on three homeopathic drops/mixtures. One was to help flush out the mercury toxicity in my system, one was to boost the FSH, and one was to raise my Progesterone level.

Two years later - Dental Visit Feb 2, 2001

God provided the finances to have the entire right side of my mouth's metal fillings replaced with composite fillings. My emotions stabilized after the dental work and I realize I just have a tremendous amount of patience in the day-to-day events of life regarding family and work again.

I still have the left side of my dental work to do.... probably next year. I didn't go to just any dentist. I went to a Biological Dentist (Dr. Glaros in Spring, TX) that sticks to the right protocol necessary to have this procedure done properly.

The business of replacing metal with composite fillings is done almost like a surgery in the sense that you must make sure and cover the entire mouth with a plastic covering so that no metal particles are swallowed. An oxygen mask is placed over the nose so that none of the fumes are breathed during the procedure. You are told not to breathe through your mouth, only through your nose during the process. We had dental insurance, but it did not cover the cost of these extra medical precautions. Also, replacing your fillings just because you think they are not safe may not be covered by insurance. I believe that most dental insurance plans don't pay for it unless a filling falls out, for instance, or cracks, etc.

If a person was to have a "traditional" dentist replace their fillings, it could potentially be more harmful because of the small extremely toxic mercury particles that get swallowed during the procedure. Even a minute amount swallowed may cause more health problems than simply leaving them the way they are. The liver would be extremely overloaded for months, possibly years, attempting to clear the toxic metals out of the body. Interestingly, when a dentist purchases the amalgam mixture used for metal fillings; it's shipped with strong government warning labels that say, "Highly toxic material inside." It comes in a securely sealed container with another warning label "DO NOT OPEN except under _____ conditions... gloves, mask, etc." How is it then when it's in our mouth as a filling, it's safe? When we chew and grind our food, don't these fillings begin to wear down over the years? Aren't minute amounts of metal being swallowed over say a twenty to thirty-year period while chewing and ingesting our food? How does this affect our health?

The Electro-Dermal device finds, many times, that metals are lining the inside of a person's veins, arteries, and valves of the heart! Yes, doctors check our cholesterol level and sometimes find a high level, but it is not likely that a Cardiologist would consider having the patient tested to see if minute measures of mercury from the teeth are being swallowed and collecting in the arteries. Anyone who's had chelation knows that it can be cleared out slowly by chelation. But what if there is a particular homeopathic remedy, the electro dermal device can reveal, that causes it to clear out quickly?

The other reason you want to have a Biological Dentist do filling replacement is so that they can do a compatibility test on your first visit to see if the new filling material will cause a reaction. They can test you to see if one of the five different ingredients that make up the replacement white composite filling will react negatively with your system.

Just to be clear, not everyone who has mercury fillings (often called silver fillings) need to assume they are causing health issues and need to be replaced. Get tested first. Dental fillings are NOT a problem for MOST people. But they are a problem for a lot of people. Replacing them is expensive so no need to take on that endeavor unless it's absolutely necessary. The other thing is that – even if your fillings are a problem, they may not be the biggest problem in your body right now. There may be something else that's more of a priority right now. If you have metal toxicity, it may be a secondary concern. The device can tell you which issue is your first concern. For me, mercury toxicity didn't show up on my first two visits. It wasn't until the first 2 to 3 primary health issues cleared up, that the metal filling issue was revealed.

Again, most dentists do not understand the health concern it may cause for certain individuals, and it's virtually impossible to convince them. If the device detects metal toxicity, and the metal toxicity is traced to your fillings, then it would behoove you to find a Biological Dentist in your area to insure safe replacement.

February 2002

I had the entire left side of my tooth fillings replaced with composite fillings.

September 2004

I followed up with another electro-dermal testing and it was revealed there was still mercury toxicity in my cardiovascular system. Although the metals fillings were replaced with safe fillings and there was no longer the possibility of swallowing metal particles along with my food, the remaining mercury residue still resided in my bloodstream. The silicone however also still showed up on the test. I was told to continue with the detoxifying solution in order to remove the rest of the silicone and the mercury.

Also, he found a specific kind of bacteria in my liver, possibly contracted from the tap water...my thoughts...because my friend who lived down the street, also tested, was found with the same exact bacteria. Who knows? But we were both recommended the same remedy.

But the most important thing revealed was colon degeneration (cancerous). This is early detection of colon cancer. The cause? Taeniae worms (a type of tapeworm contracted from eating undercooked fish). There were many of them in my small and large intestine. I watched as the device calculated the exact dilution required of two specific homeopathic formulas to eradicate this, a combination of Vermaplex and Pau D 'Arco.

I was not fearful, and I told no one. I did not go to a conventional doctor. I knew the parasite medication would work given a few months, and I knew God's faithfulness.

I had already referred countless others to this practitioner over the years. And they were also experiencing incredible results from discovering what kinds of parasites, bacteria, viruses, fungus, pesticides, and/or metals through this testing device, taking the specified remedies, and seeing health symptoms disappear.

He recommended I take a product (called Para 6) for the parasites, so I ordered it and took it every day for 3 months. After beginning the (detox drops and) the Para 6, I felt like I had tons of energy again, however, I wanted to get re-tested right away.

January 2005 – four months later

Just as I expected because of the remedies I had taken; the test result revealed no sign of cancer in my colon or anywhere else in my body! There was still the presence of taeniae tapeworms, however the level of toxicity from them was greatly diminished. I was to continue the remedy until completely irradiated. I was SOOOO thankful I did not have to deal with a 3rd round of cancer in my life! I'm not saying that any time a person has colon cancer it's due to parasites. It could be due to a combination of pathogens I've already mentioned. (side-note: This practitioner has a way to test which toxins and poisons are in the body 2 years prior to a cancer diagnosis from a conventional doctor. The same for autoimmune diseases)

And one more amazing thing; for the first time since 2001, mercury no longer showed up on my test results! And I know this is a very strange thing, but I noticed that for the first time in my life I was able to wash dishes without my hands breaking out. I had been allergic to certain hand soaps, dishwashing soap, and laundry soap my whole life. From my childhood I always had to wear gloves when washing dishes to avoid having my skin break out. Who could have imagined that an allergy to soap clears up as a result of overcoming mercury toxicity!!

April 2005

I had so many people from my church getting tested annually that I thought it best we just fly this practitioner in rather than them flying to where his clinic was. I watched as folks one by one would walk out with their report after a couple or three hours of testing. Each one had something unique and was given a strategy to resolve it. Each one very thankful to have, for the first time in their lives, an opportunity to know exactly what was causing the illness or symptoms in their body. Not guessing, not going from one specialist to another wondering. And not labeling it something so that a pharmaceutical drug can be taken for the rest of their life to keep at bay something that cannot be cured.

Even to this day, I get an annual test by this practitioner.

It's very important to note this technology has advanced to the point that it is no longer necessary to be in front of the device or the practitioner to be tested. A single blood drop from the person can be tested with accurate results.

I'm convinced that this method is going to lead the future in medical breakthroughs because of its ability to find root causes of illnesses and because of its ability to quickly scan for the needed natural remedies to resolve the issues it finds. Because of God's healing through this device I no longer worry about cancer in my life. All the guesswork of conventional medical exams are eliminated. I also no longer have false confidence that comes from a clean report from conventional diagnostic methods. I face my annual EDS screening report every year without fear because the remedies recommended get rid of the toxic metals, anaerobic bacteria, pesticides, parasites, viruses, etc. that the system reveals.

Again, I am very thankful to God for leading me to this wonderful screening device and I hope everyone reading this would prayerfully consider this as a pathway to their physical healing.

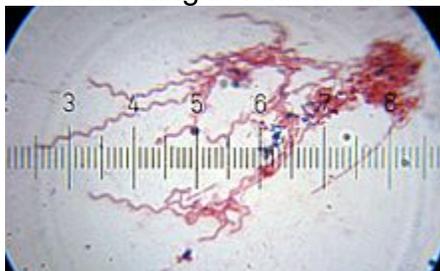

I've personally witnessed countless others that have overcome great medical challenges through the discovery and application of this healing method. If I were to document them all it would fill a whole book. However here are a few.

Leukemia patient completely healed within three months. (1999)

One of the health seminars that I conducted for a corporation in Southwest Houston prompted an employee to confide with me that she had just recently been diagnosed with leukemia and given a few months to live. Devastated with the news, she decided to get the Electro-Dermal testing. She was diagnosed with a toxic blood stream riddled with a very rare parasite that was eating away at her bone marrow. After taking the homeopathic drops prescribed to kill those particular critters, and standing on scriptures, within a few months, not only was she feeling better, her blood test showed no evidence of leukemia!

Lyme Disease disappeared

In 2005 while attending my home church when living in Texas City, my Pastor was found to have Lyme Disease. Tested by the Electrodermal device, it was revealed he had spirochete parasites. Here is a picture of what this particular parasite looks like. He had 2 additional tests, 6 to 9 months apart, with approx $350 in remedies following each test. Standing in faith for his healing, within 2 ½ years, his Lyme Disease disappeared.

ADHD disappeared.

My friend's 10 years old son continued to disrupt all his classes for years. Many teachers would call her in to discuss Brady's issues and he was finally diagnosed with ADHD. In Oct 2006, his EDS results showed tin poisoning in his colon, roundworms, ringworm, pinworms, tapeworms, flatworms, hairworms, and tongue worms. Also showed he's allergic to cow's milk. After taking approximately $300 of homeopathic meds, and my friend and I declaring healing scriptures weekly over him... by early 2007 his second test showed that most of the parasites had cleared up but that he was also highly allergic to red food coloring. Soon after completing that medication his behavior changed and his concentration level in class greatly improved which resulted in better grades and no more parent/teacher conferences.

Eliminating anti-depressant meds.

Another individual was very concerned about her long bouts of depression and had been on anti-depressant medication. Her EDS test in early 2010 showed her serotonin level was low, and her pituitary gland was secreting too much hormone. She was also found with a coronary artery staph infection. She was put on several homeopathy meds to deal specifically with each of these issues. She stood in faith declaring by the stripes of Jesus she was healed. After her second test in Dec 2010, the serotonin level had corrected. The pituitary gland was functioning properly, and her heart no longer showed an issue. She slowly decreased her anti-depression medication and as of early 2012 she says she no longer feels depressed and no need for anti-depressant meds.

Burton Goldberg, who founded and published a monthly Magazine called Alternative Medicine for more than 30 years, author 20 books including one called 'Take Control of Your Cancer', and one called 'Cancer Conquest: The Best of Conventional and Alternative Medicine'. He said quote: "I get a test once a year by (name of practitioner in the Dallas area). It's a way of knowing what's inside the body without opening it up. Of course, you have these incredible successes with it. And I find that any doctor who doesn't use this type of screening is really guilty of malpractice. I think it's that important." In 2016, Burton Goldberg died at the ripe old age of 90 years old.

General Information: The test consists of checking for anything that is weakening the immune system. This non-invasive testing takes approximately two to three hours and checks for, but not limited to, the following:

- Metals (cadmium, copper, aluminum, mercury, etc.)
- Parasites (will tell you exactly what type and where they are)
- Anaerobic Bacteria (example: from old root canals or extractions not cleaned out properly ...called Cavitations)
- Pesticides, Insecticides, Herbicides (DDT, Dieldrin, etc.)
- Toxins in any organ or tissue.
- Viruses lying dormant. (EBV, CMV, etc.)
- Allergies (list of foods for you to avoid, airborne allergies, etc.)
- Geopathic Stress (deals with environmental issues like Hartmann Curry grid, underground water stream, working around computers, near power lines, etc.,

- will check to see if the immune system is affected by anything from the environment)
- EMF issues (from using cell phones without an EMF neutralizer)
 - Hormonal Imbalances.
 - Dysbiosis.
 - Autoimmune disorders and what's causing it.
 - Cancer and underlying causes.
 - And more

Electrodermal Screening is a computer program and instrumentation that can support other diagnostic tools when assessing health issues. This technology can later be confirmed using conventional means (cultures, or blood, skin, and urine tests). Using approx 1.25 volts causing a flow of electrons to flow through the blood drop, the resonant frequency current is measured by the practitioner. A drop in current flow indicates a resistance reflecting a potential weakness in the body system or organ. Utilizing the vast database of potential remedies in the EDS system, the balancing frequency of remedy (or frequency) can quickly be determined.

EDS energetic values are used as a complimentary tool alongside traditional standards of care and diagnostic guidelines established by the AMA and ADA. At this time, the use of EDS in the United States is not intended for the purpose of a medical diagnosis but can be used to interface client frequency with treatment frequency.

The EDS blood test is three-part:

1. The customized database scans the blood drop from the resonant frequency of thousands of different viruses, bacteria, parasites, and pollutants contained in the EDS. These electronic signals are used to identify what of the above may reside in the person's body.
2. The custom imprinting mechanism formulates the homeopathy solution at the perfect strength and dosage to combat the items found in the person's body. (the core detox remedy.) This core remedy is included free as part of the test.
3. A report of the findings and recommended list of additional remedies are mailed.

The test consists of mailing a blood drop. $450 for the test. Retests are $350. Results take 2 – 4 weeks. Once toxins are identified test, a remedy list is provided, and/ or a frequency generator is recommended. It uses electrical pulses to kill viruses, bacteria, parasites, etc. in the body. Cost of frequency system is between $1,400 - $2400. Supportive remedies will also be required to help the liver and lymph system will need to sweep away all the dead pathogens.

There have been certain situations this one practitioner has not been able to resolve. In 2016, one of my clients was getting early signs of dementia. She was not improving and in 2 years had gotten worse despite this practitioner's help. I researched and prayed for months and months for a solution for her, any kind of remedy or treatment that will bring her memory back. I ended up finding a clinic in the Seattle area that checks for Prions, which I discovered is the most common toxin causing 'forgetfulness'. I had my client mail in her saliva for testing. Within 6 weeks her report was emailed stating she had a high prions count affecting her brain. Also, that her mold toxicity score was over 1 million (extremely high!). I thank God for this answer to prayer in revealing yet another couple of areas regarding our health that was hidden. Hosea again came to mind – My people perish for lack of knowledge.

I learned from this Seattle practitioner that 1/4th of the population cannot handle any amount of mildew/mold and that their bodies begin to accumulate ‘mold toxins’ which are extremely detrimental to our health. I myself sent in my saliva for testing and my mold toxin score was 460,000 revealing that I also was part of the 1/4th of population. I have written up a list of options to lower this score. No conventional doctor that I know of has a solution for this. But God has revealed it to us through this wonderful practitioner that is also saving lives!

I also learned from this practitioner how to kill viruses, bacteria, parasites, fungus (and prions) using frequency generators!

More about this other practitioner in another document. But I will summarize with this:

Since 2016 I have all my clients also get this Seattle test to make sure no stone is left unturned in finding ‘critters’ to target in bringing about health and wellness. This practitioner’s test is $175, and it takes approximately 6 weeks for results.

Armed with both test results, clients can rest assured that over time, over 90% of all their health issues will be resolved through prayer, and by using our frequency generator approach (or remedy approach).

Oh, did I mention that both of these practitioners are born-again Christians?

If you have any health questions regarding any of the information above, or if you’d like more information, feel free to call me. May God bless you and guide you as you embark upon your own healing journey.

Keep in mind there is a difference between ‘testing’ versus ‘treating’.

We come up with a list of pathogens that we know are there based on these two tests results.

Then we put together either a list of remedies proven to kill those pathogens identified.

Or we put together a list of frequencies proven to kill those pathogens identified.

So, you would either pay for a frequency generator system.

Or you would buy the recommended remedies every time you are tested.
